

Austin US Export Assistance Center Hosts Indian IT Delegation

Austin, TX - On Thursday, June 26, the Austin U.S. Export Assistance Center hosted an IT delegation from the Indian state of Karnataka. During its one-day trip to Austin, the Indian delegation visited with various Texas state officials and technology firms.

From left to right: Larry Tabash, Trade Specialist of Austin USEAC; B. V. Naidu, Director of Software Technology Parks of India and Ministry of Communication & Information Technology - Government of India; Bill Morris, Director of Mississippi USEAC; D. B. Inamdar, Minister of State for Tourism & IT - Government of Karnataka; Karen Parker, Trade Specialist of Austin USEAC; and Vaijayanthi B. Desai, Public Relations Officer of the Department of IT & Biotechnology

Members of the delegation were Mr. D. B. Inamdar, the Honorable Minister of State for Tourism & IT - Government of Karnataka; Mr. B. V. Naidu, Director of Software Technology Parks of India and the Ministry of Communication & Information Technology - Government of India; and Ms. Vaijayanthi B. Desai, Public Relations Officer of the Department of IT & Biotechnology.

Karnataka Minister of State for Tourism & IT presents Indian handicraft-gift to Texas Secretary of State Gwyn Shea, while Trade Specialist Larry Tabash looks on Trade Specialist Larry Tabash from the Austin USEAC accompanied the visitors in meetings with Texas Secretary of State Gwyn Shea, Texas Economic Development's international trade advisors, as well as meetings with Austin-based Dell Computer Corporation and ClearCube Technology, Inc.

Indian Delegation Visits Dell Computer